

Shawn Jordan is a multimedia artist living in Winnipeg, presently working at the University of Manitoba as a Communications Coordinator and attending classes at the School of Art. She grew up in Regina, Saskatchewan and earned a Bachelor Degree in Visual Communications from the Alberta College of Art and Design. Living as the daughter of an art educator and with mental illness within her family, she has had first-hand insight into the complex dynamics of creative expression and mental illness. Today, much of her artwork deals with exploring states of mind including emotions, identity and (dis)embodiment.
